^{*}Expenses reflect a contractual agreement by the Adviser to reduce its fees and/or absorb certain expenses to limit the fund's total annual operating expenses until July 31, 2012, unless terminated earlier by the Board of Trustees. For more information about fees and expenses, please read the prospectus. Performance would have been lower if fees had not been waived in various periods.

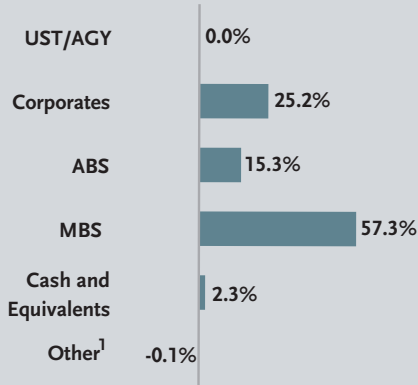

¹ BofA Merrill Lynch 3-Month U.S. Treasury Bill Index +2% - Is an unmanaged index comprised of a single issue purchased at the beginning of the month and held for a full month. The issue selected at each month-end rebalancing is the outstanding Treasury Bill that matures closest to, but, not beyond three months from the rebalancing date. The index is not available for direct investment; therefore its performance does not reflect a reduction for fees or expenses incurred in managing a portfolio. The securities in the index may be substantially different from those in the Fund.

1 Other represents options, swaps and municipals.
 2 MetWest receives credit quality rating on the underlying securities held by the fund from Moody's, Standard & Poors and Fitch. MetWest created the "Quality Distribution" breakdown by taking the highest rating of the three agencies when two or three of the agencies rate a security. If only one agency rated a security, MetWest will use that rating.
 3 UST and U.S. Agency ratings are all categorized under AAA or greater bucket.
 4 Holdings ≤ B were purchased at B or better.

Investment Objective and Approach

The Strategic Income Fund seeks to maximize long-term total return without tracking any particular markets or indices.

The Strategic Income Fund's strategies strive to provide consistent absolute positive annual returns uncorrelated to cyclical market downturns. MWSTX's three primary components are:

- Seek to achieve at least 200 basis points of excess return to the risk-free rate as measured by 90-day T-bills to realize a high degree of positive returns each year.
- Will strive to deliver consistent positive returns uncorrelated to negative market cycles.
- Exploit all of the different markets and variety of financial instruments available in the marketplace.

A word about risk: The primary risks affecting this Fund are "interest rate risk" (including "extension risk" and "prepayment risk"), "liquidity risk," "derivatives risk," "foreign securities risk," "credit risk" and "junk bond risk." Interest rate risk refers to the possibility that the value of the Fund's portfolio investments may fall since fixed income securities generally fall in value when interest rates rise. Extension risk is the possibility that rising interest rates may cause owners of the underlying mortgages to pay off their mortgages at a slower than expected rate. This particular risk may effectively change a security which was considered short or intermediate term into a long-term security. Long-term securities generally drop in value more dramatically in response to rising interest rates than short or intermediate-term securities. Prepayment risk refers to the possibility that falling interest rates may cause owners of the underlying mortgages to pay off their mortgages at a faster than expected rate. This tends to reduce returns since the funds prepaid will have to be reinvested at the then lower prevailing rates. Derivatives risk refers to the risk that changes in the value of a derivative may not correlate perfectly with the underlying asset. Liquidity risk refers to the possibility that the Fund may lose money or be prevented from earning capital gains if it cannot sell a security at the time and price that is most beneficial to the Fund. Foreign security risk refers to the value of the Fund's investments in foreign securities on changing currency values, political and economic environments in the countries where the Fund invests. Credit risk refers to the loss in the value of a security based on a default in the payment of principle and/or interest of the security, or the perception of the market of such default. Junk bond risk is the risk that these bonds have a higher degree of default risk and may be less liquid and subject to greater price volatility than investment grade bonds. The value of the Fund's share price will fluctuate up or down based on the value of the portfolio holdings, which can be affected by these risks.
